SUMMARY:

I am a passionate and excellence-driven software engineer who enjoys learning, solving challenging problems, and building real world projects. I primarily work with JavaScript, Node, React, HTML, and CSS but can switch to other technologies as the business requires. I have built a number of software applications in the past and I am currently working on a Work Out Application with MERN stack that helps people register and track their daily exercises. I am currently on the look out for Junior Software Engineer role that will help me grow my software engineering career while meeting business targets and goals.
